

Spirit of VqNcouver®
...celebrating metro vqNcouver

Join our celebrity roasters and toasters as they help us say “thank you” to Mayor Sam Sullivan for his 15 years on Vancouver City Council. This special Spirit of Vancouver® luncheon recognizes a unique life and Sam’s very special commitment to our community.

As an early advocate for individuals with disabilities, and as a city councillor, and more recently as mayor, Sam Sullivan’s perseverance in the face of often daunting challenges is a reminder to all of us that community service is an important part of our citizenship as individuals and businesses.

And while a skiing accident at the age of 19 made him a quadriplegic, “Citizen Sam” has never shied away from controversy, tough decisions or the rough and tumble of Vancouver politics, one of the city’s most colourful and entertaining contact sports.

Now, as he prepares to leave City Hall, join us for some memories and laughs as we hear from those who know Sam Sullivan best, including folks on both sides of the political fence.
